BEBEL AGENTS IN ROME-THE POPE'S COR.

The fareleal interinds to our great Western tragedy has just been playod. In this little State, in which there are to-day one thousand prisoners for freedom of thought and political effences, and for which, for the same causes, there are ten thousand exites, and in which peace is maintained by standing armies almost equal in number to the able-hodied men be-side them, the "illustrious and honorable I'resident" of the rebel hordes has found a The step from the sublime to the ridiculou Some three months ago a formidable pass-ort, marked with all the flourish and ctyle of of the "Confederate States of America," and signed by Robert Toombs, personating a Secretary of State, announced to the Roman police the arrivel of Messre. Gastronomy is among the lost arts of the rebels. They are about as woful in that as in finnactering.

sinners of the South have been looking into the lives of the saints in order to see how ed to dry bread with water during Lant, but the Richmond Despatch says "this has been the daily fare of some salaried officials all the year round." The rebel papers say that "dry eating" is an institution, which lasts three hundred and sixty-five days. This enforced institution finds edifying examples in the "diet of the saints." Thus, St. Macarins lived on pulse and herbs. During Lent he did not eat on week days, but ato a few raw cabbage leaves on Sundays. The Richmond Editors and the instigators of murder may | say if this saint were now in Richmond, he would learn that cabbage leaves are an extravagant sensuality, in which neither saints murderer, whonever his crime is nor sinners in any grent numbers indulge. St. Genevieve was another dry cater. She ons a fit occupant of the platform undor ate only twice a week, and then only beans

Walston, Bisbop of Worcester, seems to be the model ascetic among the unwilling anchorites of Richmond. While attending to mass once he was troubled with the savory fumes of ronsting beef, and he made a vow never as changed sides in the rebellion, what again to taste meat. The rebels say this is a son is there to suppose that the character worthy example, and its general adoption is is not just as ready to encourage murder the war; for, the Editors say, "those who he ever was, provided the murder is com. | make it are likely to keep it." These are tho anstere lessons, which, the rebels say, are he man who was an approver and instigator | priached from the butcher-blocks and veget-

Nearly three thousand voters have aheady been registered. Little Rock has been abandoned. Farms are being rapidly leased, and prospects for large crops are good. Telegrophic Despatch.

This rather perplexes us. Every preparation seems in progress for the coming election in Arkausas, nearly three thousand votes Laving already been registered, and we have supposed, that, as a matter of conrec, the reurn of the votes would be made to Little lock, the long-established capital of the State. But Little Rock, it seems, has been abandoned. Farms are rapidly leased, indicating ecufidence in the permanence of Federal supremacy in the State, but Little Rock has been abandoned. Why it has been abandoned, there is no intimation. Our forces were very anxious to get possession of it, and we can't guess why they make no attempt to keep it. The rebels fortified it atrongly whilst it re mained in their possession, and our own troops have added much to the strength of its fort.fi cations sinco, and we have seen no statement or suggestion as to the advance of the rebels uron it in any formidable force.

Is Little Rock to be given up to the rebels Or do our military authorities in Arkansas think that it is entirely secure from rebel capture, even though abandoned?

The Charleston Mercury says, that, 'although there is darkness in the South now, there are Elysian prospects ahead." We guess that the Elysian fields of the rebels, like those of the ancients near Naples, are founded on nothing more than a busu in a cave.

The Cincinnati Gazette says that the ball is rolling in Florida. A good many balls have been flying there. And our poor fellows dant train of horrors. During a notable have stopped a large number of them, but not in a very pleasant or healthy way.

I have read of old N nevals and Babylon below the ground, and seen and handled the works of art which have been disinboth sides of the Atlantic; but one living Jed do nbove the ground is worth a hundred old fogy cities below it. I cannot give von an ides of it it is so unique, so mu'ike everythin except itself, and so impossible as you wilthink. I have seen several places of interest, and maintained a cool head, but I was bewildered and confounded when I saw this. Is i situnted on the western shore of this charm ing gulf, twenty miles wide by twenty-four long, to which the Lake Tiberius is nothing, except in the sacred flet which once trod is It stretches for twenty miles and more along a bench of a semi-eircular form, with its horns turned outward, and along which no not extend, crowded with blocks o stores and houses, and teeming with moving crowds, while shop keepers, artisans, women, and children seem equally numerous within door, and at the doors. In lead, a dozen or fifteen miles might be added to the length of the city in this direction, since there is nothing but an unbroken succession of towns and villages for this distance, which are as populous and well built as the city i self.

"In cres ing the city from the shore to the western outskirts, I have walked two miles and a half, and then proceeded on horseback for ten miles more, making twelve miles and : half in the whole, while in other places it may he wider still. According to the lowest esti mate, the city covers an area equal to seven o the New England farming towns, which wer usually six miles square. And all is tray resed by streets, usually wide, well constructed, perfeetly nest, and cross each other at right angles; s reets lined with houses and store; as compactly as they can be built, and crowded with moving and stationary masses as thick as in our Washington street or New York, Brondway, at least for considerable distances. Tue pulation is estimated generally at three mil-us, which Mr. Harris, our minister, thinks is no exagreration. For my part, judging from what I have seen when I have gone into from s'de to side, I should be willing to all as many millions more; for the living, moving where the same, fairly seemed beyond cour-
